British Values

Virtual Assembly

Mr Jones

Think about yourself, you might...

- Have brown hair
- Wear glasses
- Have a brother or sister
- Like football
- Be able to speak another language
- like swimming
- Have been born in this country
- Know what you want to be when you're older

All these things help make up your identity

So what else makes up your personal identity?

- Groups or clubs that you belong to - scouts, rugby, football, choir....
- What your interests or talents are - film, dance, music, speed stacking....
- What things are important to you.
- What your hopes are for the future.
- Which people are important to you.
- Your religion
- The languages that you speak.
- Which country you are from.

What you value also makes up part of who you are.

Think about which of these values are most important and least important?

Honesty

Hard Work

Caring

Resilience

Kindness

Ambition

Fun

We also have key values as a school, the RAPS:

RESPONSIBILITY – ASPIRATION – PERSEVERANCE – SUCCESS

The background of the slide is a stylized, hand-drawn version of the Union Jack flag, featuring thick red and blue strokes on a white background.

We have talked about
our personal values,
We all live in Britain,
what do you think
British values are?

A group of people were asked to name 5 things they felt signified great Britain - their responses are in the diagram below, take some time seconds to have a look through it and see what stands out:

These are of course things linked to Great Britain, but as a nation we are about so much more.

There are 5 key things that make up our British Values:

- democracy
- the rule of law
- individual liberty
- mutual respect
- tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

These are ideas will come up in many of your subjects and PHL Lessons in school, and you may have seen British Values displays.

Im going to give you some information on each one now.

• Democracy

Britain is a democracy - this means that the people in Britain vote for the people who make the laws and decide how the country is run. If we didn't have a democracy, just one person might be able to make all the laws and that would not be fair.

- The rule of the law

In Britain we have a police force who make sure people do not do the wrong thing and break the law - this means that we are safe.

In Britain, as long as we do not break the law, we can live as we choose to and have our own opinions about things.

• Mutual Respect

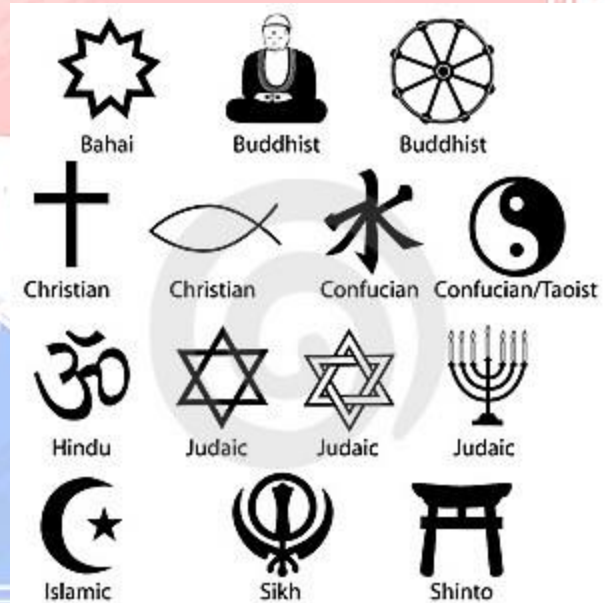

We might not always agree with other people, but we try to show respect for their thoughts and feelings.

We can give respect to others and we can expect other people to show us respect.

• Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

In Britain we accept that other people might have different beliefs than ours and they may believe in different religions.

In recent times Britain has been a very different place to usual, but a lot of the things we are doing are based on our key British Values

- You will be staying home to ensure everyone is protected as much as possible.
- You will be following government advice and new laws.
- You might be celebrating our NHS hero's and key workers.
- You might be checking in regularly on family, friends and neighbours.
- You might be taking part in charity events.

In these difficult times, take a moment to think about how lucky we are to live in Britain, a country with such strong values.

Stay safe

Hopefully I will be able to see you all in school soon.
